

The Slave Across the Street

The true story of how an American teen survived the world of human trafficking

Author: Theresa L. Flores

specifications:

Trade paperback

192 pages

Retail: $14.99

5.5" x 8.5"

Pub date: January 11, 2010

Product category: Autobiography/Personal Memoirs/ Social Issues

ISBN#: 978-0-9823286-8-2

product description:

In this powerful true story, Theresa Flores shares how her life as an All-American, 15-year-old teenager was enslaved into the dangerous world of sex trafficking while living at home with unsuspecting parents in an upper-middle class suburb of Detroit. Theresa also shares how her faith enabled her to endure these horrific events in her life. She writes:

“I firmly believe that God knew the limits of what I could endure. He had a greater plan for my life.”

Even more importantly, Theresa’s story and expertise as a counselor and licensed social worker help identify red flags that could prevent her plight from becoming the fate of an unsuspecting teenager. She shares how God healed her wounds of sexual servitude and offers advice to parents and professionals through prevention tips, education and significant information on human trafficking in modern day American.

comparative product:

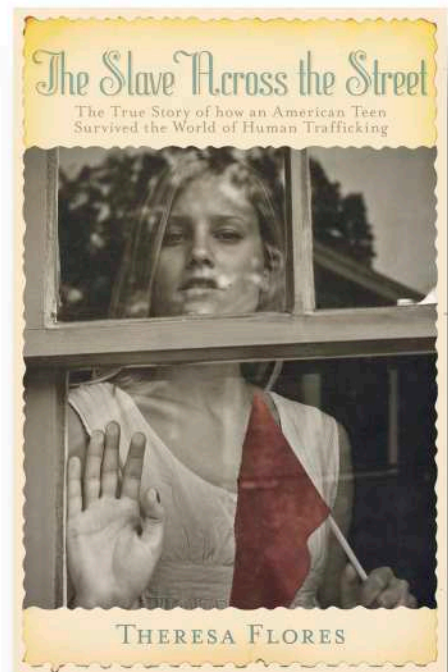

Not for Sale by David Batstone is a book that is similar in idea and subject matter and has sold consistently well. However, The Slave Across the Street differentiates itself by being the personal story of a victim caught up in this hideous world. Another similar title is Disposable People by Kevin Bales, which continues to sell well six years after its initial release.

promotions and marketing:

- Trade and consumer publicity, including a 6-month campaign starting in November 2009
- Current shows the author is scheduled to appear upon include Larry King, and The 700 Club as well as an article in Christianity Today
- Theresa is fast becoming the international expert on the topic of human trafficking, speaking from the perspective of the victim features & benefits:

- * There are chapters for parents and adults who work with teens to identify potential children who are at risk of being trafficked.
- * Includes other resources for prevention of trafficking.

about the author:

Theresa L. Flores is a sought-after conference speaker, speaking worldwide on the topic in front of audiences of thousands. She has also appeared on The Today Show and Dateline NBC to discuss the domestic issues of human trafficking. She also runs a website called www.TraffickFree.com and helps with Grace Haven, a home for women who are recovering from sexual slavery.

Contact: Tim Hetchler
Phone: (800) 375-3702
email:
wesscottmkt@msn.com

ampelton PUBLISHING